Assistant Secretary of Treasury

James Freeman Curtis of Boston Chosen to Succeed
James B. Reynolds.

Washington, Nov. 23.—James Freeman Curtis of Boston, now United States district attorney, and once intercollegiate golf champion of the United States, has been chosen assistant secretary of the treasury. Announcement of this effect was made by Secretary MacVeagh today.

Mr. Curtis succeeds James B. Reynolds, who resigned to become a member of the tariff board, and he will have special charge of customs matters.

Graduate of Harvard.

Boston, Nov. 23.—James F. Curtis of this city, who has been chosen assistant secretary of the treasury, is just finishing a term as assistant district attorney of Suffolk county.

After his graduation from Harvard in 1893, he entered the Harvard law school and was graduated in 1895. Since that time he has been

This action, the representative said, was due to the acts of trespassers upon the company's leased beds and the appropriation of the product, which has cost the company much money to cultivate.

It is also declared that the ground for which cancellation of the lease will be requested is such ground as no other planter will occupy, because the New Haven oystermen have already lost, according to their statement, large sums in an attempt to make it productive.

Interest Merely Curious.

When The Stomach Stops Working Properly, Because There Is Wind In It, Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to Set It Going Again

A Trial Box Free.

THE DOCTORS call it flatulency, but unprofessional folks know it as "wind on the stomach," and a most distressing ailment it is. It is a serious condition of this great motor organ. Always annoying and painful in the extreme, at times often leading to bad and fatal results. The stomach embarrassed and hampered with wind, cannot take care of its food properly and indigestion follows, and this has a train too appalling to enumerate. The entire system is implicated—made an active or passive factor in this trouble and life soon becomes a questionable boon.

ALL THIS IS EXPLAINED in doctor books; how undigested food causes gases by fermentation and fermentation in which process some of the nutrients are destroyed—burnt up—wasted by chemical action, followed by defective nutrition and the distribution through the alimentary tract of chemically wrong elements and as a consequence the stomach and entire system is starved. Plenty of food, you see, but spoilt in preparation and worse than worthless.

A DERANGED STOMACH is the epitome of evil; nothing too bad to emanate from it, but the gas it generates is probably its worst primary effect and the only way to do away with this is to remove the cause. STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS go to the root of this trouble. They attack the gas-making foods and render them harmless. Flatulency or wind on the stomach simply cannot exist where these powerful and wonder-working little tablets are in evidence.

THEY WERE MADE for this very purpose to attack gas making foods and convert them into proper nutriment. This is their province and of about them and then not all told that might be told with profit to sufferers from this painful disease, dyspepsia. It would mention the years of patient and expensive experiment in effort to arrive at this result—not failures innumerable and at last success. It would make mention of the different stomach correctives that enter into this tablet and make it faithfully represent all.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS are not alone intended for the sick; but well folks as well; for the person who craves hearty foods and wants to eat heartily and run no risk of bad effects, they act like a charm and make eating and digestion a delight and pleasure. They keep the stomach active and energetic and able and willing to do extra work without special labor or effort. Don't forget this. Well people are often neglected, but the STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS have them in mind.

A FREE TRIAL PACKAGE will be sent to anyone who wants to know just what they are, how they work, and taste, before beginning treatment with them. After this go to the drug store for them; everywhere, here or at home, they are 50 cents a box and by getting them at home you will save time and postage. Your doctor will prescribe them; they say there are 40,000 doctors using them; but when you know what is the matter of yourself, why go to the expense of a prescription? For free trial package, address: F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Building, Marshall, Michigan.

P. S. Better send today for samples of the tablet. You will get quite a box of them.

RHODE ISLAND WILL LOSE

When Connecticut Oyster Firm Leaves Narragansett Bay.

A representative of H. C. Rowe & Company of New Haven, lessees of much land in Narragansett bay for the cultivation of oysters, said in Providence last week that the company was to give up a large area where the state would lose from $10,000 to $15,000.

This action, the representative said, was due to the acts of trespassers upon the company's leased beds and the appropriation of the product, which has cost the company much money to cultivate.

It is also declared that the ground for which cancellation of the lease will be requested is such ground as no other planter will occupy, because the New Haven oystermen have already lost, according to their statement, large sums in an attempt to make it productive.

THINGS MADE WITHOUT EGGS.

Pastry and All Sorts of Goodies for Which Recipes Are to Be Had.

"With eggs at 50 cents a dozen and my family of four clamoring for cakes, cookies, desserts and breakfast breads, egg economy was simply forced upon me," said a thrifty housekeeper. "I'd always heard of eggless recipes and laughed at them, but with rising prices in the face I decided to make a thorough search through cook books and domestic magazines until I'd collected a good assortment of these eggless recipes."

"I gave up the best part of three days to looking through the cook books at one of our large public libraries and I was simply amazed at the results of my search. While some of the best authorities had not a single recipe for cake made with less than three eggs, others of equally high standing usually gave a one-egg cake and occasionally an eggless one."

"All authorities gave directions for making fillings and fillings without the use of a single egg, while up to that time I'd always used at least the white of one egg for any kind of frosting. All the books gave a recipe for molasses cake or gingerbread without eggs and one or two included an eggless recipe for cookies and doughnuts."

"When it came to breakfast breads I had quite a hunt, but after a close examination of every recipe of this kind in my notebook. Most of these I've tried since they've proved to be all that was claimed for them, eggless, but nevertheless light and nice. Some of these were so simple as to seem really ridiculous until I'd tried them. Waffles without eggs were unknown except in one book, and but one recipe could I find for an eggless griddle cake."

"Desserts without eggs seemed to offer the most promising field for my research, and I found I could not only treat my family to eggless pumpkin and lemon pies (which was a surprise to me), but could give them a variety of puddings of the kind that usually called for two or three eggs at the very least."

Naughty Squirrels.

The game warden of Berkshire county, Massachusetts, has been trying to discover who was tearing down printed copies of the fish and game laws and cloth signs bearing the words, "No hunting on the premises," and found that the depredations about Sheffield were the work of red squirrels. He loitered about the Sheffield woods and caught a red squirrel destroying a cloth notice. He thinks the red squirrel was jealous, as the game laws provide for a closed season on gray squirrels, but do not provide for any protection for the reds.
